MARINES

What is a Marine doing aboard an aircraft carrier? That question has been heard many times by the members of the Marine Detachment (MARDET) aboard the Ticonderoga. The Marine looks at the inquisitor and a small smile comes to his face as an almost endless number of duties comes to mind; ships brig, external security, gun mount 51, high-line, special services, boxing smokers, skeet shoots, orderly duty, gun shoots, and the clincher of it all port and starboard duty.
